

Devora Goldman, MS, OTR/L, is an occupational therapist who has extensive experience in helping individuals overcome their psychiatric and physical disabilities to increase their participation in daily life activities and relationships across the lifespan. She is also a trauma survivor who is living with DID and Functional Neurological Disorder/PNES. Devora lectures on the intersection of PTSD, Dissociative Disorders, and Functional Neurological Disorders, and she consults on the psychiatric and physical rehabilitation of sexual abuse survivors. She is passionate about educating the medical, mental health, and survivor communities on accurate and evidenced based information regarding the unique presentation and needs of extreme trauma survivors.